My wife and I are pleased to write a letter in support of our neighbour's daughters treehouse. We live at [REDACTED] street and wish to see no changes made to existing treehouse for size, height or location.

Childhood dreams, learning and the simple fact that children are outside is very important in their development to progress into productive young adults in society. Our two grandchildren benefit from the kindness of Chris and Amanda. When children play in their yard it is well supervised. Amanda is also very involved in our community association and puts in countless hours into volunteering and making the area better and safer for the children.

In closing for those who oppose the treehouse, you need to think about selling and moving into an old folks somewhere you will be in a child free environment. We must remember as adults that children that can solve problems today will become tomorrows leaders.
