Saskatoon's current Official Community Plan (OCP) was initially approved in 1998 and updated in 2009. Over the last several years, the City has undertaken a number of significant initiatives that have helped shape a new vision for our city. These initiatives have included extensive public consultation and have been endorsed by City Council. In order to reflect the new vision set by these initiatives, the City has undertaken a comprehensive review and redesign of the OCP.
