Mayor and Council Members,

I am writing to express my displeasure at your intention to impose gathering limits in households and places of worship via city bylaw. You had requested that the province do this and were turned down. Imposing these bylaws is an overreach of power. Our case numbers are falling and yet you wish to clamp down on the public. Places of Worship are essential to health and spiritual well being. Though I am no longer a resident of the City of Saskatoon (my family moved last spring to Dalmeny), the decisions you are making impact many more than just those residing in city limits. I request that you drop this overreach of power and vote against this bylaw.

Thank you for your time.

Regards,

Michelle Nosbush
