Good day,
I am writing to voice my opposition to the proposed bylaw to implement increased restrictions on the citizens of Saskatoon. Firstly, the city of Saskatoon has no authority to implement such a bylaw. All health directives can only be mandated by the province.
Secondly, the proposed restrictions have no basis in science. It is completely obvious now that the virus is spread by the vaccinated as well as the unvaccinated and to punish the unvaccinated speaks to the fact that this city council is continuing to ostracize a group of people. The city council was elected to represent all the people regardless of beliefs. And speaking of beliefs, curious how your proposed bylaw and previous provincial restrictions targets churches most harshly. History will not look kindly on your actions if this bylaw passes.
