Just to let my voice be heard I think enough is enough. What happened to common sense. First fact is we know these jabs are leaky and the virus can be spread and carried by the vaxed or invaded. It is time to stop the discrimination. Keeping people from gathering in there homes because of a few idiots is not going to help. We have done our part and still we are being punished and you and the government are creating a toxic environment for all by pitting people against each other. Now it's a gathering mandate and a snitch line so neighbours can squeal on neighbours. Enough is enough. How about we rally against the medical association to stop sending diagnosed people home with directions to take Niquil, and give them some tools like vitamins and yes ivermectin which has been used in many countries to flatten the curves. I'm not sure what their agenda is but it is sure not to give early treatment
