I am writing in response to the recent approval by city council's transportation committee of increased school and now playground speed zone restrictions. As Phil Tank of the Star Phoenix has noted, there is no evidence given to support any changes to the present school speed zones. Plus its clear that the majority of city residents are against these changes. The fact that "children may be present" is an argument that, because it is so broad, really means nothing. I'm sorry councilors, but you seem to be out of touch with the wishes of the city's residents on more and more issues. That this proposal has even gotten as far as it has is sad. Please, let common sense prevail and reject this proposal.

Yours truly,

Glenn Stephenson
