Re: paying for garbage pickup.

Rather than spending a huge amount of money for different size bins and associated equipment, why not stay with the current bins and just charge the fee when they are picked up by the truck?

You will end up with the same result because people won't put their bin out until it is full, and will recycle as much as possible to save room in their bin.

A lot of time now, we don't put our bin out every week because it isn't nearly full, but it's nice to still have the big bin the odd time you do fill it up in a week.

Spending money on different sized bins is simply a huge waste of taxpayer dollars, when everyone already has a bin.

Another issue for us is we are away for weeks on end at different times of the year. Why should we be paying for garbage pick up when we aren't having any picked up?!

Charging by the pickup is simpler and much cheaper to operate in the long term, with a much smaller start up cost.

Thank you

Dale Gallant
