Hi, I am a resident of Montgomery and operate a business out of my home. An issue has always been the trains. After the multi million dollar circle drive project of recent years it makes no sense as to why there is not an overpass directly to 11th street. Multiple complains from customers and personally don't know if I will be late for something due to the trains. I have spent many hours of my time waiting at trains over the years and one of my most recent stops I witnessed an ambulance with its lights on trying to get into the area. An overpass seems like quite a simple way to deviate over the tracks and access onto 11th street. Much safer than the panic that sets into drivers after waiting at a train and long lineups all the way down 11th street.
