Subject: changes to animal control bylaw regarding reptiles

Comments:

I am writing to express my support for those opposing changes that would allow more exotic reptiles, such as boas and pythons, to be kept as pets. These are wild animals that have evolved and developed to survive in their natural habitat, not in urban settings; in houses and apartments. I understand that they can actually suffer physical and psychological trauma from being kept captive in such surroundings.

I urge you to vote against any attempt to allow such changes to any existing bylaw(s) that would prevent this.

Thank you for your time in this matter.

Lindsay Pickett
