Comments:

I strongly support this, since I ride to work, and cycle with my wife and kids around Saskatoon throughout the year. My kids were still riding to school only last month. Keeping speeds down to 30 km/h on designated streets would greatly improve all of our safety, and since I regularly drive in Saskatoon as well I know that this measure would have minimum effect on driving times. In fact I already drive at 30 km/h on some quieter streets, especially when near cyclists. The small amount of time saved by driving at 50km/h simply isn't worth the danger posed to cyclists. Thank you for considering my views.
