Comments:

Saskatoon must reduce speeds on neighbourhood bikeway to 30 km/hr (or slower) to make them safer, and to also make them feel safer. People don't bicycle most frequently because they feel afraid of being injured by car drivers. Designated bikeways will be known as safe routes for cyclists only if they are truly safe. Reducing the speeds that drivers are allowed to go is a very, very important factor in making them truly safe. Lower speed limits will also encourage drivers to use alternate routes. Saskatoon had 2 people killed on its unsafe streets this year. Lowering speeds on bikeways will reduce the severity of consequences to vulnerable road users- there is ample data for this. Please do everything possible to make these bikeways safer for the most vulnerable.
