Comments:

I comment in support of this infrastructure initiative as it relates to cycling in Saskatoon. Personally, I've become much more involved in cycling in just the last few years and I appreciate both what the city has done so far for cyclists, and any new initiative to further develop cycling infrastructure. I understand it's an incremental process, so I'm happy to support this connector from 31st to 33rd streets, and I look forward to future opportunities to voice continued and growing support. Saskatoon is a beautiful city that deserves to be bike-friendly. Thanks to the Standing Policy Committee on Transportation for bringing this forward.
