Comments:

We are new residents to Saskatoon, having retired here from farming near Assiniboia to be closer to our children. One of the most enjoyable aspects of Saskatoon is the greenery and access to beautiful walking paths. We are dismayed to learn a freeway could be built that crosses the Northeast and Small Swales. Why? The Saskatchewan prairie is vast. Why would you approve the destruction of a known refuge to native grasses and wildlife. The Swales improve the quality of life of Saskatoon residents immensely. They are peaceful and serene. The Regina Bypass is a generous distance from residential areas, allowing for future growth of the city and not impacting citizens directly. The Saskatoon Freeway should follow this example. I respectfully ask you to not approve the Freeway's intrusion into the Swales.
