Comments:

This city needs better cycling infrastructure. Bike routes that are connected and make sense, that make cycling more accessible and safer. Too often I hear from other people that they would bike more if they felt safer. Sharing the road with cars is scary even for an intermediate cyclist, like myself. I bike to work everyday in the summer and avoid main roads as much as I can because I don't feel safe cycling with traffic. I have heard that city council has plans in place and that there has been both provincial and government funding this year to help with active transportation. Please move these plans forward so that I can feel safe commuting to work or cycling with my family. Make it easier to cross busy streets like Broadway or 8th street without having to be on a main road. Make it safer to cycle in the winter instead of forcing cyclist to choose between rutted and icy side streets, main roads that are now even more narrow or giving up on cycling and driving. Give cyclists us our own space.
