Comments:

We purchased our home at [REDACTED] Kirk Crescent in 1972 as a place where we could raise our family as well as have a great place to retire. We selected this location because of zoning, access to schools, university, shopping, Holland Park, an upscale/quiet community, etc. We recently spent well over $350,000.00 upgrading our home for the retirement portion of lives. The thought of having to relinquish all of this and having to relocate elsewhere is simply unacceptable. There is absolutely no justification for permanently destroying a "Class A" housing community. High density housing needs to be in new developments.
