Comments:

12 years ago I took a significant pay cut and moved from Fort McMurray, Alberta to Saskatoon because I couldn't bare the thought of paying half a million dollars for a house with dense, congested streets. I am in disbelief that I am now in a half million dollar house and will be experiencing the same vehicle pollution and parking congestion but in Saskatoon. I feel sick to my stomach that I've invested in a place that is willing to throw away quality of life over a plan that doesn't work for all of its citizens. Surely there is a way to density without creating parking/street congestion. Please say no to this plan and ask for a better one.
