I am reaching out as a concerned citizen of Saskatoon. This current bylaw in regards to gathering sizes is a gross misstep of the city's authority. The last thing we need to be doing is creating greater division within our community. Having yet another set of rules for the vaccinated and unvaccinated, now in regards to their private dwellings is beyond ridiculous. Individuals who are working to provide a home for themselves and their families, paying taxes to the city, should not be told by the city whether they are able to gather with extended family and friends. Even more so, people should not be restricted based upon vaccination status. This two-tiered society (created by government) and based on medical segregation, is horrendous and to now further perpetuate this into private dwellings is completely unacceptable. The city's request to restrict gathering sizes was already rejected by the the provincial government. Individuals and their families should all be able to decide what is best for each of the unique circumstance we find ourselves in. It is not the responsibility of our mayor and council to dictate who or how many are allowed in our homes.
