

Water Accessibility by Building Type

All City facilities have access to a municipal water supply. However, the number of water fountains and types (e.g. fill station, kitchenette or standard spout water fountain) varies at each facility. Below is a table that outlines the current status of water accessibility and contract obligations with third-party vendors.

| Civic Facility Type | Accessibility to Water                                                                                 | Contract Obligation For Bottled Water Sales                                              |
